

Pure Uncontaminated Oats Now Available in Australia

Over the past three years at Cream Hill Estates we have received numerous enquiries from people with celiac disease in Australia regarding the availability of our “gluten free” oats 'Down Under'. At huge shipping costs to the individual, a number of them ordered our product and had it shipped to them in Australia and New Zealand. However, the official position of the Australian Celiac Society concerning the use of pure uncontaminated oats for its members discouraged us from actively looking for a distributor of our products in Australia until very recently.

In May 2009, this situation changed. For the first time in the 3 ½ years since we have been in business, our pure, uncontaminated oats and flour are now available to consumers in Australia. Based on the gold standard methods we use for testing for gluten (R5 ELISA), the strict processes our growers use, the lengths we go to ensure product purity and the growing body of evidence that about 95% of those people with celiac disease can tolerate modest amounts of pure, uncontaminated oats in their diet, the progressive thinking natural grocer Flannery's based in Queensland, decided the timing was right to introduce Cream Hill Estate's pure rolled oats and pure whole-grain oat flour to the Australian public.

Given the ground work that we did with the US and Canadian Celiac Associations when we first introduced our products to these markets, Flannery's is able to steer Australian consumers towards the findings and positions of these international bodies to help those Australians with celiac disease to make informed decisions concerning the inclusion of our pure, uncontaminated oats in their diet. See Flannery's Store Locator to find a store near you.

For those 'Down Under' wanting to buy product outside of Queensland, Flannery's offers a delivery service out of state. Kindly contact Tino at: tino@flannerys.com.au should you wish to place an order for delivery within Australia or to New Zealand.
